Moore intent on halting vandalism

University President Hollis A. Moore Jr. has a message for students convicted of tampering with fire protection equipment in campus living units: he will personally suspend them and possibly have them expelled.

Dr. Moore made that statement last Friday in light of a growing number of false alarms, intentionally-triggered smoke detectors and illegally-discharged fire extinguishers.

Calling the situation "serious," he said some students apparently believe vandalizing fire equipment "is just fun and games, when I don't think it's funny and I don't think it's a game."

DR. MOORE SAID he "will summarily suspend any student found guilty in court of tampering, with the intent that it will result in expulsion unless it is overruled by an appeals court."

Dr. Hollis A. Moore Jr.

He added: "I don't know anything else to do."

Two students have been convicted so far this academic year of tampering with smoke detectors, and another for discharging a fire extinguisher.

The problem of false alarms and abused fire protection equipment has apparently become epidemic.

According to Seldon Carsey, the University's director of health and environmental safety, campus living units have had 29 false alarms since fall quarter began.

In addition, Carsey said nearly 100 fire extinguishers have been stolen, and many more discharged.

PERHAPS THE MOST serious consequence of the false alarms is that many dormitory residents are now reluctant to leave the building during an alarm because they believe it to be another prank or a drill.

James Mangano, director of Rodgers Quad, said only about 30 per cent of Rodgers' 550 residents now leave the building during fire alarms.

He said he and his staff are concerned that the residents' failure to leave not only endangers their lives but may be in violation of state and federal laws.

In addition, Rodgers has another serious problem with its smoke detectors and its fire alarm system.

The detectors, located in hallway ceilings, can be disabled by pulling off their plastic covers. When that happens, an alarm goes off in another part of the building indicating that a detector is out of order.

BECAUSE THEY ARE connected in electrical series with the building's fire alarm circuits, a disabled smoke detector interrupts the fire alarm circuit and prevents part of it from operating.

In Rodgers, the tamper-warning device is located not in the main office, as in other dormitories, but in a remote maintenance room where it cannot be easily heard.

As a result, Mangano said, Rodgers has sometimes been without its fire alarm system for as long as a weekend because a resident has tampered with a detector and the warning has gone unheard.

Another problem, common to all living units, is that the detectors can easily be triggered by holding a match or lighter beneath them, causing the fire alarm to sound.

As a result of the frequent false alarms and circuit interruptions, Dr. Moore said many living units are not as safe now as they were before the $200,000 smoke detector system was installed.

"OUR STUDENTS are less well-protected than if we hadn't put it in," he said.

Although stickers warning of prosecution are being placed on the detector covers to ward off vandals, most hall staff members and some administrators believe a better system of educating residents about the dangers of false and disabled fire alarms is needed.

But Mangano said he believes the residents themselves will have to bear the ultimate responsibility for their actions.

"It's got to be a conviction on the part of the individual not to tamper with these things," he said.

Ford seeking tax cut to put 'house in order'

WASHINGTON (AP)--Declaring that America must put "our domestic house in order," President Ford announced last night he would seek a $16-billion federal income tax cut.

It could result in individual taxpayers receiving cash rebates of up to $1,000 on their 1974 tax payments, he said.

The tax cut was a cornerstone of the package of economic and energy proposals Ford unveiled in an addressed broadcast nationally from the White House.

OTHER MAJOR elements of the package:

--An immediate tariff on foreign crude oil, beginning at $1 a barrel and going to $3 a barrel in three months, coupled with a request that Congress place what he called "energy taxes" on domestic oil and natural gas.

--An unspecified method of returning the $30 billion in "energy tax revenues" to the economy "in the form of additional payments and credits to individuals, business and state and local governments."

--An increase in the investment tax credit to 12 per cent for one year in an effort to spur industrial plant expansion and the creation of more jobs.

"WE MUST WAGE a simultaneous three-front campaign against recession, inflation and energy dependence. We have no choice," Ford told Americans from the White House.

library in the preview of tomorrow's State of the Union message to Congress.

He said he wanted to talk "about putting our domestic house in order. We must turn America in a new direction."

Then he proceeded to outline his plan, including the immediate federal income tax cut of $16 billion.

He added: "Twelve billion dollars, or three-fourths of the total of this cut, should go to individual taxpayers in the form of a cash rebate amounting to 12 per cent of their 1974 tax payments--up to a $1,000 rebate. If Congress acts by April 1, you will get your first check for half of the rebate in May and the rest by September."

Ford said the rest of the cut--about $4 billion--would go to businessmen and farmers through the increase in the investment tax credit to 12 per cent for one year.

At present, the tax credit is 7 per cent for all industries except public utilities, which has a 4 per cent investment tax credit.

"What we need most urgently today is more spending money in your pockets rather than in the Treasury in Washington," Ford said in acknowledging that his new economic program is far different than the one he proposed last October.

"The reason is that the situation has changed," he said. "You know it, and I know it."

Ford's proposed energy taxes will result in higher retail gasoline prices. He didn't give a figure, but said the increase will be "not as much as with a 20-cents-a-gallon gas tax" which had been suggested by some to curb fuel consumption.

Former CIA directors questioned at inquest

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Former CIA Director James R. Schlesinger said yesterday that a review of agency activities shortly after he took over uncovered a small number of "misdeemeanors."

Schlesinger, now secretary of defense, was interviewed by a blue-ribbon panel appointed by President Ford to investigate allegations the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) engaged in illegal domestic spying.

IN ITS FIRST session, the eight-man panel heard in closed session from CIA Director William E. Colby and two of his predecessors, Schlesinger and Richard Helms.

Colby, who was expected to tell the panel what he learned from his own investigation of the allegations, entered the meeting shortly after the chairman, Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, said, "this commission has but one purpose, we're going to get to the bottom of this problem."

Schlesinger, who headed the spy agency for six months in 1973, told reporters that the panel asked him about "the necessity for an effective intelligence organization and some of my experiences in it."

SCHLESINGER became head of the CIA while the agency was under fire for its role in the Watergate scandal, and he said, "there were a number of issues that came about as a result of the review of intelligence activities at the agency which was precipitated by the Watergate episode..."

McCord speech

James W. McCord Jr. who touched-off the massive Watergate investigation with a secret letter to Judge John J. Sirica, spoke to over 1,000 persons Friday in the Grand Ballroom, Union. McCord explained his part in the break-in and cover-up and expressed opinions on Nixon's role in the scandal.

McCord: 'Nixon must have known'

By Carl Remensky
Editorial Editor

"It was the most massive cover-up in the history of the presidency--and it almost worked."

Those were the words of James W. McCord Jr., a convicted Watergate conspirator, as he described his view of the scandal in which he was involved.

"Nothing, for me, accounts for the massive cover-up that went on after June 17 except for the fact that the President (Nixon) must have been involved," McCord said.

MCCORD SPOKE Friday to an audience of more than 1,000 persons in the Grand Ballroom, Union, in an appearance sponsored by the Union Activities Organization (UAO).

McCord was one of five burglars arrested June 17, 1972 in an attempted break-in at the Democratic National Headquarters in the Watergate apartment complex in Washington.

He was convicted and sentenced to a one-to-five year prison term. He is presently free while his case is being appealed.

McCord sent a secret letter to Federal Court Judge John J. Sirica that touched-off the massive investigation which eventually implicated former President Richard M. Nixon in the scandal.

McCord said the White House used various methods to try to ensure silence on the part of some of the people involved.

McCord said he had received an offer of $100,000 from the White House as well as an offer of executive clemency.

HE ADDED that he also received numerous threats during the trial. "You didn't totally discount them," McCord said. "You always tucked them away in the back of your mind, and every once in a while you'd look back over your shoulder."

He said the same White House agent that made the offers and threats throughout the trial told him the government might fall if he told the facts about Watergate.

"Of course, it has," he added. When he wrote the letter to Sirica, McCord said he could not anticipate what its consequences would be.

"I simply believed what I was doing was right," he explained.

MCCORD SAID he believes the Watergate prosecutors did a poor job of investigating Watergate and actually did not break the case.

He pointed out that former presidential aide John W. Dean has testified that in the months between the actual break-in and the trial of the burglars, Henry Peterson, then the assistant attorney general, was supplying Dean with the names of the witnesses who appeared before the Watergate grand jury and what they testified to.

"There is no question that this information aided Dean and the others in keeping the cover-up going," McCord said.

"The grand jury, left alone, without the prosecutors, could have broken the case," he added.

HE EXPLAINED that the grand jury broke the case itself when it ignored the wishes of the prosecutors and asked Donald Segretti who his superior in the Watergate operation had been.

When Segretti answered that it was Herbert W. Kalmbach, then Nixon's lawyer, the floodgates of Watergate were opened.

Equal protection under the law has not occurred in the Watergate case, McCord said.

He said Nixon, former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and others involved in the Watergate operation were not brought to trial or were given light sentences, while the subordinates of the operation, such as Liddy, Jeb Stuart Magruder and others got the worst punishment.

MCCORD SAID the effect of Ford giving a pardon to Nixon was to block the normal processes through which the facts about Watergate would have been revealed to the American people.

He added that on March 1, 1974, there was enough evidence to name the former President as an unindicted co-conspirator. "There is a very widespread suspicion throughout the country, rightly or wrongly, that there was a deal; Ford has not dispelled it," he said.

Rhodes takes governor's oath

COLUMBUS (AP)—James A. Rhodes became Ohio's 63rd governor yesterday, promising an industry-attracting jobs program and cutting red tape "wherever it exists."

The Republican governor took the formal oath—his second in three days—in mid-teens weather before some 2,000 persons on the west steps of the Statehouse.

Rhodes and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown were the only Republicans to take the oath in the ceremonies arranged by Ohio Republican headquarters. The other state officials were Democrats.

Outgoing Gov. John A. Gilligan was on the rostrum during the ceremonies, being introduced by Ohio Republican Chairman Kent B. McGough.

"AS SOON as this is over, I'm getting in my car and driving to Cincinnati," the one-term Democratic governor said. Rhodes barely defeated Gilligan in the Nov. 5 election.

Rhodes took the oath Friday in an attempt to head off any last-minute political maneuvering by Democrats.

He officially became governor at 12:01 a.m. yesterday.

Gilligan looked stern as Rhodes said that red tape and bureaucracy had "blocked the development of Ohio's energy resources."

Rhodes read from a prepared text, which he strayed from only at the end when he thanked those that braved the weather to be on hand.

MOST OF those attending were outside for more than an hour, stomping their feet and rubbing their hands to keep warm.

The spectators were non-partisan, cheering the four Democratic officeholders who took their oaths as well as Rhodes.

Democrats taking the oath included Lt. Gov. Richard F. Celeste; Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, Treasurer Gertrude Donahey and Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

Celeste and William J. Brown had both taken oaths earlier. Celeste took his in the Senate chamber and Brown received his first one in the State Office Tower.

SOME 100 protestors representing what they called the "May 4 coalition" yelled and chanted through Rhodes' inaugural address. He ignored them.

The protestors, carrying a black flag and a banner reading "Protest the Kent State whitewash—indict the real criminal" were kept at the back of the crowd by a cordon of state highway patrolmen.

Rhodes, who had previously served two terms as chief executive, was governor when Ohio national guardsmen killed four students at Kent State University during anti-war protests May 4, 1970.

Campus cookin' up pizzeria

The University should have its own pancake house and pizzeria this quarter, according to A. Inghram Milliron, director of residence auxiliary services, and Ruth I. Friend, director of quality control.

Friend said the pancake house will open in Harshman Quad during February. The menu includes 10-15 varieties of pancakes and waffles plus side dishes such as bacon and fruit juices.

"Everything will be done from scratch including our syrups," she said. She added that the menu includes items popular at commercial pancake restaurants and some Food Service original recipes.

The pancake house will be open for supper during the week and all day on weekends.

THE PIZZERIA, tentatively planned for McDonald Quad, would be open at night for carry out service. "Maybe later, a delivery service can be set up," Friend said.

The pizzeria will make only pizzas at first but may expand its bill of fare if students indicate an interest in purchasing other items, according to Friend. Customers initially will have to purchase a whole pizza, but the possibility of selling pizza by the slice has not been ruled out.

Students must pay cash for pizza purchases. Meal coupons are unacceptable.

MILLIRON SAID Food Services has been investigating other areas, including menu, merchandising and service. He said decisions about changes or improvements should be made this quarter.

In a recent report to the Board of Trustees, Milliron reported the meal coupon system has cut waste by 75-80 per cent. He said the coupon system has eliminated excessive requests for second helpings and thus has curbed the need for personnel.

"When you have the waste, you have to have someone to cook the waste and bus the waste," he said.

The coupon system has improved the attitudes of Food Service personnel, according to Milliron. "They can spend more time producing an item. They have a sense of accomplishment," he said.

He said employees have become proficient with repeated preparation of a food line such as the cold sandwich menu. And he added that merchandising—making an item attractive for competitive sales—has contributed positively to Food Services.

PROBABLY THE greatest improvement in Food Services since the coupon system began is the change in dining hall atmosphere, said Milliron. He said meals are enjoyed leisurely.

"You see a lot of newspapers now. People come down and read over a cup of coffee," he said.

He added that dining halls have become places where students can feel comfortable about meeting friends without worrying about fights and noise.

Included in the report to the trustees was a letter Milliron sent to the Citizens Action Committee at the White House. Milliron's letter emphasized the reduction in waste at the University.

"One midwestern university approximates its waste at 8,000 pounds of food per day. If waste of this proportion is multiplied by the number of colleges and universities across the country (4,000), the savings would be enough to feed a community of 50,000," wrote Milliron.

He invited the President or a designated representative to visit the University for a firsthand look at the meal coupon system.

Dem bills

COLUMBUS (AP)—Minority Republicans moved immediately yesterday to try to invalidate six Democratic bills sped through the legislature last week to avoid certain veto by GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney (R-7 Cincinnati) asked the Franklin County Common Pleas Court to enjoin state officials from implementing the enactments signed late Saturday by former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan, 29 hours before his term expired.

Kidnap plans

LONDON (AP)—The Irish Republican Army made plans to kidnap Prince Charles last year, three London newspapers reported yesterday.

The Daily Telegraph and the Sun said the IRA also planned to assassinate Home Secretary Roy Jenkins if two Irish sisters serving life terms for bombings in London had died during a hunger strike last year.

The Daily Mail said an IRA spokesman told it the guerrilla army planned to kidnap the 26-year-old heir to the throne last summer and take him to Ireland.

"The ransom would have been the end of internment of suspected guerrillas without trial, withdrawal of British troops from Northern Ireland and unification of Ireland," the source said.

Alert system

WASHINGTON (AP)—Warnings of nuclear attack, hurricanes, tornadoes and other disasters will be sent by the federal government on an FM radio frequency under a new national warning system.

The White House Office of Telecommunications Policy said Sunday the warnings will be issued through the National Weather Service, broadcasting 24 hours daily over two VHF-FM radio channels, 162.40 and 162.55 megahertz.

Dean explains schoolhouse funding

By Mary Higgins

The dean of the College of Education yesterday justified the use of $50,000 of state money for the relocation of the "little red schoolhouse" from Norwalk to the University.

Dr. David G. Elsass said the University had intended and still intends to use volunteer help in dismantling and rebuilding the one-room schoolhouse on campus, which will be used as a museum for educational memorabilia.

On Sept. 26, 1973, the University architect's office issued a statement which said the cost of relocating the shell of the schoolhouse with volunteer help would be about $22,000.

But that estimate did not include any other services, such as building the interior, installing heating and electricity, furnishing, or landscaping, Dr. Elsass explained.

By last March the cost of the relocation went up to $25,000 because inflation had risen 25-30%, according to Dr. Elsass.

LAST SPRING, when Dr. Elsass said he was almost ready to "scrap" the project, Rep. Arthur Wilkowski (D-Toledo) introduced a bill to the state legislature to appropriate $50,000 for the project.

Dr. Elsass added that neither he "nor anyone else involved in the project had asked Wilkowski to introduce the bill to the legislature."

After both the house and senate approved the funding, the State Controlling Board asked the University for a detailed plan of all the services the schoolhouse would need to fit the standards which the state prescribes for its buildings, Dr. Elsass said.

He said the State Controlling Board would not release the $50,000 appropriation before it had received a detailed account of services and costs.

To accomplish this, Dr. Elsass explained that it was necessary to employ outside architects to review the situation and decide exactly what the schoolhouse needed.

DR. ELSASS said the University architect's office was not used because "at this time Mr. Brown was tied up in numerous other projects."

Dr. Elsass explained that the architects then had to write the specifications for the relocation and renovation.

Before these specifications could be submitted to the State Controlling Board, bids had to be secured for the approximate costs.

As yet, not all of the bills for the architects' work have been received but Dr. Elsass estimated the cost for this alone was over $4,000.

He said the bills were not being paid from University funds but rather from the original $14,000 in private donations which was collected for the relocation project.

The State Controlling Board approved the $50,000 appropriation last July, and is now in the process of releasing it.

The appropriation was not made from the general University budget but from the revenues of the state lottery, according to Dr. Elsass.

Mitchell classically comes alive

By Frank Johnson

There's only one thing as easy for an artist as a greatest hits album: that's the live album. And the live sets usually generate more interest because they contain a couple of new tunes usually as well as new versions of the artist's standards.

Joni Mitchell's live set, "Miles of Aisles" (Asylum) is already a classic. With the cover story in "Time," America was just waiting for the album to appear. On it, Joni demonstrates all of her talents carried over from the studio. To put it in a word, Joni Mitchell has class.

JONI'S conversational style of singing, along with her unique guitar tuning, are present. And the excellent backing from Tom Scott and the L.A. Express are just perfect. They float through familiar tunes such as "Woodstock," "Big Yellow Taxi," "All I Want" and "Blue" and still manage not to draw attention from the two new selections, "Love or Money" and "Jerico."

A must for Joni Mitchell fans, this album will most certainly convey her good feelings to new listeners.

Also out last month was super-star David Bowie with his first live set, "David Live" (RCA). Because of Bowie's studio mastery, this live set is very different from his previous albums.

review

In an almost bump-and-grind style, Bowie belts out a classic version of "Sufragette City," complete with the now-famous "Wambam-thank-you-mam!"

IN FACT, most of Bowie's best are present on this two-record set. He struts out a version of "Changes" and rocks with "Rebel Rebel." Bowie also performs his own "All the Young Dudes," which Mott the Hoople made famous.

But still despite the performance, Bowie still lacks the polish that's to be expected through his studio albums. It is disturbing, but not totally distracting.

"Encore" (Epic) is the name of the live set from Argent, also a double album. Unlike Bowie's, the live Argent seem to be a lot better than the studio. On "Encore" we are treated to extended versions of "Hold Your Head Up," "God Gave Rock and Roll to You" and "I am the Dance of Ages."

Group leader and keyboardist Rod Argent has found uses of the mellotron and synthesizer that weren't present on the originals. Attribute this to hind-thought, if anything.

Keyboardist Brian Auger and his Oblivion Express have a live one, too, called "Live Oblivion, Volume 1" (RCA). There are only four tunes on this record, highlighted by a version of "Bumpin' on Sunset," written by the late jazz guitarist Wes Montgomery. Though this is about the fifth or sixth time Auger has recorded the tune, it gets better each time around. This time, vocals have been added; they help, but not much.

Premiera Formeria Marconi has had its name formally reduced to their initials with their third album to appear in the states, "Cook" (Manticore). This Italian group has gained a small following in this country due to its first album, "Photos of Ghosts."

PFM's live "Cook," however, does suffer a bit from a recording that's less than excellent, but still the group's essence comes through. Light rock with flutes and a few string instruments; at times, it seems a bit like Renaissance music.

The humorous "Celebration" is present, an up tempo bouncy jig showing PFM at their most rambunctious. This goes into the more serious "The World Became the World" which was the title cut of their second U.S. release.

Field study

Four University students will be participating in a program of field study from Thursday to May 10 as part of the Washington Semester Program at The American University in Washington, D.C.

Janice Fenwick, junior (A&S) and William Burris, sophomore (B.A.), will be working in the Economic Policy Semester and Bridget Ryan, senior (A&S) and Thomas Snitch, senior (A&S), will be working in the Foreign Policy Semester. There is also a Washington Semester, a Washington Urban Semester and an International Development Semester.

All four students received tuition scholarships which equal the difference between the fees of the University and The American University.

Besides the experience they will get in their areas of study, the four will also receive 30 hours credit, the equivalent of the average class load for two quarters at the University.

OIG

Applications are now available for the Ohio Instructional Grant (OIG) in the Student Financial Aid office, Room 305, Student Services Bldg.

The grants, based on family income, are designed to assist students in meeting the cost of instructional and general fees at public and private universities participating in the OIG program.

To be eligible for an OIG a student must be a resident of Ohio enrolled as a full-time undergraduate student in an eligible Ohio institution of higher education, and must be making "appropriate progress" toward an associate degree or a bachelor's degree.

Applications must be submitted to the Student Assistance Office of the Ohio

Board of Regents, 30 E. Broad St., Columbus. The first applications processing deadline date is Feb. 3.

Grants may be transferred from one institution to another within the state. The present schedule permits awards based on adjusted income up to $15,000. The amount of the awards range from $90 to $600.

Reverb

Staffers of Reverb, the newsletter for students interested in mass communications, will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight in 409 South Hall. The meeting is open to all students interested in mass communications including those who have not participated in previous Reverb activities.

Graduation

March graduates must apply for graduation by tomorrow, January 15. June graduates also are urged to complete applications for graduation by tomorrow. However, forms for June graduation will be accepted later.

Applications may be picked up at a window on the first floor of the Administration Building.

Police report

City police cited Keith A. Wooley, 1019 Offenbauer West, for violation of the open container law. He was to appear in court yesterday.

The Sunoco station at Prospect and Wooster was robbed of 92 quarts of oil Saturday night.

Windows were broken on two cars Saturday night at Greenview Apartments, 214 Napoleon Road. Police are investigating both cases.

SGA sets rules for campaigning

Student Government Association (SGA) finalized election procedures Sunday night that must be followed by prospective candidates who wish to appear on the final ballot in the upcoming SGA elections.

Some of the procedures are changed from last year, including the elimination of party names on both filing applications and election ballots.

That action was taken by SGA to encourage students to vote for individuals not parties.

Filing for candidacy will begin today and end Jan. 28 at 5 p.m. Applications must have 25 endorsements and must be filed individually.

All candidates who file applications correctly will be certified by the elections board, which will announce the candidates by Jan. 31.

THE CANDIDATES will be allowed to spend a maximum of $65 on their campaign. All donations are included in this $65 limit.

Three expenditure reports must be filed by each candidate prior to the election. Failure to do so will result in the elimination of a candidate.

The first report of expected expenditures must be filed with the elections board in 405 Student Services Bldg. by Feb. 3, the first day of campaigning.

The second report must be a notarized and itemized list of all expenditures, donations and sources of revenue, and must be filed by Feb. 12.

The third report is the final report of expenditures and must be filed by Feb. 18. Campaigning will be allowed in dorms, greek houses, and the commuter center only with permission of those in charge of the respective facilities.

No campaigning will be allowed after 10 p.m. unless authorized. Candidates may not campaign in the academic buildings, the Union, or within 100 feet of a polling place on election day.

Election day has been scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 19. Students must present their ID, validation card, and appear on a University computer printout to be eligible to vote.

Voting will be computerized and tabulation of the ballots will be done Thursday, Feb. 20.

Christmas sales boost city shops

Most Bowling Green stores had a bountiful Christmas season, and the added income may help offset the losses they incurred during 1974, according to Robert Hoagland of the Chamber of Commerce.

Area shoppers were apparently in the market for high-quality, practical items, and most merchants agree that they did not hesitate to buy.

Robert J. Lobos, acting store manager at LaSalle's, said the store's customers were buying good quality merchandise during the Christmas season. He said people were buying more practical goods, not frills.

Customers were not caught up in the latest crazes, he added.

Items such as crock pots, hosiery, housewares, clothing, fabric materials, pots, corn poppers and air hockey games sold well, Lobos said. Toy sales remained stable, with the better name brands selling more.

THE ONLY business which went down was television sales, he said. Shoe sales were down nationally and locally in LaSalle's stores, too.

Lobos attributed the high sales to the store's after-Christmas sales, which were actually held before Christmas. He said people did a lot of late shopping, waiting until Christmas week to make their purchases.

Keith Bryant, manager of Merit Shoes, said his Christmas sales decreased slightly. Slippers and women's and men's shoes sold the most, he added.

Wood County maintains 5.3% unemployment rate

By Lorraine Jameson
Staff Reporter

Things may be tough all over, but apparently they're not quite so bad in Wood County.

The unemployment rate in Wood County is a relatively low 5.3 per cent, according to official state Bureau of Employment Services statistics for November.

Wood County's rate of unemployment is lower than the state average of 6.1 per cent and the national average of 6.2 per cent.

LUCAS COUNTY, where Toledo is located, has a 6.4 per cent unemployment rate.

E.G. Moore, manager of the Wood County Bureau of Employment Services, said he believes the unemployment rate is lower here than in many metropolitan areas because there are more diversified employment opportunities, with little concentration by a single industry.

In addition, much of the county's employment is geared for agriculture, and agricultural workers are not included in government statistics on unemployment, Moore said.

Despite the relatively low rate of unemployment, the Bureau of Employment Services is receiving about 400 new claims for unemployment benefits each week, three times more than last year, Moore said.

According to Moore, Wood County factory workers are hardest hit by unemployment.

"FACTORIES are being affected by some automotive layoffs that channel down through supply plants," he said. Some Wood County industries supply component parts for autos.

"I am optimistic that it will take a turn for the better in early spring," Moore said. "But a lot of it depends on the auto industry."

If car sales remain low, the employment situation may remain bad, Moore said. "Everyone is sitting on their money. They are hesitant to spend," he said.

Chrysler Corporation gave a $400 rebate on new car purchases, and Moore said he believes more auto industry moves of this type may be helpful.

U.S. gives no guarantee

NEW YORK (AP)—President Ford says the United States cannot guarantee Israel's security at this time.

"We have to judge what is in our national interest above any and all other considerations," Ford said in an interview published Sunday in Time magazine.

He said some steps toward peace in the Middle East must be made before any American assurance of Israeli national security is forthcoming.

"We have often made commitments that we consider Israel a necessary state in the Middle East, both as to integrity of territory and its existence," Ford said.

"I wouldn't rule out a guarantee under some circumstances, but there has to be, in my judgment, some real progress there before that step is taken," he said.

The magazine quoted the President as warning that the hazards of the Middle Eastern tensions increase "every day that we don't get some action for further progress in the settlement of some of those disputes."

The prospects for a Middle Eastern war are "very, very serious," he said.

"It so happened that there is a substantial relationship at the present time between our national security interests and those of Israel," said the President.

"But in the final analysis, we have to judge what is in our national interest above any and all other considerations."

Ford also agreed with the view of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger who, in an interview with Business Week magazine, refused to rule out force in the Middle East in the face of economic strangulation of the Western nations.

"Strangulation is the key word," Ford said. "He didn't say force would be used to bring a price change" of Middle East oil products.

OXFORD—They were cast as underdogs, and they played their role to the letter.

Competing without four of its 10 starters, the Falcon wrestling team suffered a lopsided 34-3 setback to host Miami last weekend at Millett Hall. Even head coach Bruce Bellard admitted, "It was one of the worst wrestling matches I've seen in quite a few years."

BOWLING GREEN has not been able to whip Miami on the mats since the 1961-62 season. The loss Saturday was the worst since 1971, when the Falcons were blanked by Ohio University, 32-0.

The Falcons, now 1-3 overall and 0-2 against league teams, managed to avoid an embarrassing shutout by winning one of the 10 matches.

The Redskins swept the first eight matches and were leading, 28-0, when BG's Pat Welfle stopped Dave Greaves, 15-7, at 190 pounds. Miami had already clinched the meet.

Welfle, now 3-1, used six takedowns and a pair of escapes to defeat Greaves, who brought a 5-1 mark into the meet. Welfle was also the only Falcon to earn a point in riding time.

ONLY ONE of the other nine matches was close. At 167 pounds, Falcon senior Mike Metting dropped a 5-4 decision to Miami's Don Paulson on riding time.

Miami, now 5-0 overall, scored two pins and a superior decision. Mid-American Conference (MAC) titlist Bob Dalton whipped BG's Howard Wineberg, 25-5, at 118 pounds—a hint of what was to come. Miami's other MAC champion, Paul Schomauer, pinned BG's Umby Zamora in the second period of the 126-pound clash.

The Redskins also dominated at heavyweight, where Falcon footballer Dan Stokes was pinned in his first varsity match ever.

IN OTHER matches, Art Komorowski fell, 10-2, at 134 pounds; Joe Kosch dropped an 8-2 decision at 142 pounds; Rick Kopf lost, 6-1, at 150 pounds; Tony Giannello was a 7-1 victim at 158 pounds and Dave Nieset was defeated 7-3 at 177 pounds.

Divers key to victory

By Pete Englehart
Staff Writer

The Falcon swimming team gave what head coach Tom Stubbs called "pleasant performances" last Saturday to even its dual meet mark for the season at 1-1 with a 69-44 win over host Ohio University.

The tankers won eight of 12 events, including six of the last eight, as they beat their Mid-American Conference (MAC) foe in Athens for the first time since 1965.

The Falcons got off to a 12-3 lead by winning the first two events. The BG 400-yard medley relay contingent of Bill Bradburn, Dennis Erdelyi, Chris Price and Jeff Dieren swam a 3:50.6 to give the Falcons the initial win.

TRAILING 15-9 going into the third event, the Bobcats gave BG a scare by winning the next three events. Werbeach paced the OU rally by posting a 2:03.7 in the 200-yard individual medley.

Leading only 23-20, the Falcons had one of their first surprises of the afternoon when freshman BG diver Kurt Seibenick won the one-meter competition. Stubbs considered this victory a critical part of the Falcon win as the OU divers are perennial conference contenders. However, Seibenick's win and Jed Cole's support in the three-meter event enabled BG to outpoint the Bobcat boardmen for the meet, 10-8.

Stubbs also cited the performance of Jon Watts in the 200-yard and 500-yard freestyles as key. Watts took an important second place in the 200-yard freestyle to prevent a 1-2 OU sweep and later came back to win the 500-yard freestyle in a 5:01.4 clocking—his best time ever. Sophomore Dennis Erdelyi's victory over Cheran in the 200-yard breaststroke in the next event guaranteed the win for BG.

Play St. Clair tonight

Skaters demolish McMaster

By Dan Garfield
Assistant Sports Editor

The Bowling Green icers, ranked number nine in the nation, will be home again tonight for a non-conference contest with powerful St. Clair College. The game will begin at 7:30.

It seems that every year when the McMaster Marlins roll into the Bowling Green Ice Arena, Falcon fans can settle back, have a drink or two and relax. This year was no different.

The Falcons outdid themselves in offensive splendor last weekend as they clobbered the visiting Marlins, 14-0 and 12-4, in a pair of one-sided homecoming wins.

Returning home after the Christmas holiday RPI tourney, and playing before a capacity crowd (3,478 Friday night) for the first time since November, the BG stickers exploded for seven goals in the third period on their way to a record-breaking 14-0 whitewashing.

The BG hockey machine was at its finest Friday night, pouring in goals faster than one could count. Several team and individual marks went by the wayside. Doug Ross' fantastic four-goal, three-assist performance broke the old standard of six points in a game held by a host of former Falcon icers.

THE 14-GOAL margin of victory snapped the old margin of 13 goals set in 1973 against Ohio University (13-0).

Whatever defense the Marlins put up against the aggressive Falcons proved fruitless in every way. BG coach Ron Mason was not too praiseworthy of the Marlin goaltending.

"Their (McMaster) goaltending was no good," Mason said. "To tell you the truth, I don't think their goaltenders made one good save all night."

Marlin coach Bill Mahoney conceded defeat in melancholy words. "We were completely outplayed," he said. "They (BG) were just too powerful for us."

BG's power came from all corners of the ice, and a good portion of the scoring punch emerged from the outstanding hustle and passing combinations of the third and fourth lines.

Standout performances by Tom Esper (2 goals, one assist) and Dave Easton (one goal, two assists) along with Randy Schuchard's first collegiate goal led a well-rounded four-line scoring blitz.

The defense in Friday's encounter was nothing less than spectacular. Besides making key diving stops and cutting off many Marlin breakaways, the defensive unit led by Roger Archer and John Mavity combined for seven assists in the wide-open BG scoring spree. Goalie Al Sarachman, who stopped 19 shots, picked up his second shutout of the season.

IN THE SATURDAY afternoon matinee, the Falcons continued their scoring display. However, it took longer to put McMaster out of its misery.

The Falcons opened up with four first period goals, but the Marlins got on the board with two tallies and added a pair in the second stanza before a major penalty wiped out any chance for a McMaster win.

With BG leading 6-3 at the 11:03 mark of the second period, McMaster forward Greg Clark was issued a five-minute major penalty for kicking. The Falcons countered with two goals by Steve Murphy and Bob Dobek in the next few minutes and cruised to a 9-4 lead before the second stanza ended.

THE NATIONALLY-RANKED Falcons gathered three more goals in the third period, two by defenseman Mavity enroute to the 12-4 win. Goalie Mike Liut won his eighth game in the nets while notching 19 saves.

'Small' Redskins thrash BG

By Mark Glover
Sports Editor

Miami University basketball coach Darrell Hedric struck a blow for the "small" man in college basketball last Saturday night at Anderson Arena. At the same time, Hedric's Redskins dealt the Falcons their first Mid-American Conference (MAC) loss.

The Miami mentor used a small but quick lineup that ran rings around the BG big men. The sure-handed MU players also employed a disciplined, effective zone defense for most of the contest.

These two factors gave the Redskins a 73-64 triumph and a 2-0 record in the MAC.

HEDRIC replaced 6-10 center Dave Elmer with 6-6 Randy Ayers late in the first half. Although MU had a height disadvantage, it really did not make much of a difference.

Hedric talked about his gamble after the game.

"We had been going to Ayers because he gives us mobility," said Hedric. "It creates some problems for us, but it also creates a lot of problems at the other end of the floor."

Redskin forwards Steve Fields and Chuck Goodyear more than held their own against the taller BG hoopers. The Miami duo had 23 rebounds and 29 points between them.

The smaller MU front line did a superb job of penetration and passing. Many of the Redskin buckets were layups. When trapped, the three forwards usually passed off to hardnosed Miami guard Rod Dieringer who tallied 16 points.

Hedric talked about his gamble after the game.

"We had been going to Ayers because he gives us mobility," said Hedric. "It creates some problems for us, but it also creates a lot of problems at the other end of the floor."

Cash was all over the court after the opening tip-off. His hard work earned him 10 points and seven rebounds before Miami went to the locker room with a 41-35 lead at intermission.

But the stingy MU defense did a superior job of sealing off "June", inside in the second half, aiding the Miami cause immensely.

Cash had praise for the Redskins.

"You have to give them credit," he said. "They did everything well—every facet."

At the same time, Cash, whose tender left ankle was heavily taped, talked about BG's future.

"WE'VE LOST before at home. We'll just have to come back and not get down," he said. "We'll have to work hard on our defense."

Falcon head coach Pat Haley was another who had praise for the Redskins.

"The credit should go to Miami," he said. "They had good movement, and they did an excellent job of handling the ball."

Women cagers triumph

By Lauri Leach

The Bowling Green women's "A" and "B" basketball teams blasted Wright State out of Anderson Arena last Saturday afternoon, 86-36.

Coach Sue Hager played every woman on the "A" squad during the first half of the game. Wright State came within two points early in the game (9-7) but BG came back with a 10-point shooting spree and continued to build its lead.

Despite a number of turnovers, Bowling Green led Wright State at halftime, 49-19.

WRIGHT STATE saw a whole new team in the second half as coach Hager substituted the "A" team with the Falcon "B" team. Despite the fact that the junior varsity was playing the Raiders' varsity, BG continued to build its lead.

High scorers for the "A" team were Linda Hardy, Bobbie Little and Jane Pekarek with 10 points each. Christie Long followed with eight points and Sue Oberholtzer and Cathy Copeland notched six and three points respectively.

Junior varsity member Pat Walter paced the Falcons for the game with 12 markers. Nancy Gray scored nine points and Laurie Maczko had six points.

Hager's cagers will play Ohio State this Saturday at Anderson Arena at 1:30 p.m.
